In order to finalize the documents, our team would like to send in the letter with the replacement pages so the record is complete on revisions. There are only a few replacement pages so it should be clear to recipients those pages that needed to be printed and placed in their hardcopy versions. Due to the number of revisions to the QAPP, we will provide a complete revised version of that document. We will also plan on sending everyone a CD with electronic versions of the final revised compiled PDFs.

Per my other email this AM, I will forward a revised Word version of the QAPP to Gina so she can directly insert any additional redlines and expedite any additional necessary revisions.

Cheers.

- 1) Charlie and I chatted- no need to officially submit comments and responses again unless you all want to. His main concern is that it is going to be very confusing to figure out what the final 'final' is if we don't have one last revised printed copy. I am less concerned as long as you all are sure that the pages make sense and can go the right places in the binder- and are providing me an electronic copy of the final document as that is what I will provide for the Records Center/posterity/all mankind/etc.
- 2) Giving a draft to Gina makes sense. Please cc' me so that I know it went to her. Then I can check in with her on her timeframe to review it. Since OEA reviews all QAPPs for the entire region- you can image that it might take a few days. But if you cc' me- I can manage that side of the house.

Work for you?

Off tomorrow. If you get the 401 comments in today- please cc' me on those as I need to review them as well.

Checking in on Charlie's feedback on my proposed path forward for resubmittal of revised documents – thoughts?

Also, we are revising the QAPP per Gina's feedback that you emailed to us. We are pretty clear on what she wants but once we complete the revisions I recommend we pass a draft to her to see if it is good to go before formally submitting to EPA. Let me know if that works for you. I think we can pass to her either this Friday late or Monday.

Ryan

Sent the email to Charlie- so I'll let you know shortly.

And I hear from the QA folks that I should have any comments by COB tomorrow at the latest. So . . . we should be all lined up here shortly.

During our call last week with Ericka, I recommended that it might be easiest for us to submit a short letter to EPA describing that we had additional conversations with EPA following our latest BODR submittal and EPA requested additional minor revisions to some of the documents. We would attach any replacement pages to the letter so folks could make hardcopies for their existing hardcopy documents. We would then follow up and provide the distribution list revised PDFs of the entire compiled documents that were affected by the revisions (BODR and WQMP) so everyone has the revised electronic version of the documents. EPA would then memorialize these additional discussions and revision requests in your approval letter. You indicated that sounded good to you but you need to confirm with Charlie and Sean.

Please let us know if that path forward works and we will submit the revisions ASAP. Thanks.
